

Graduation assignment/internship for a Corporate Strategy Analyst

Bedrocan International is looking to hire a Corporate Strategy Analyst for the period of about six months to assist in the Corporate Development team on a graduate or an internship basis. This person will report to the Corporate Development Manager, located in Amsterdam.

About Bedrocan International

Bedrocan International is the most experienced producer of medicinal cannabis in the world. We are renowned for our standardised, high-quality products, and we believe that medicinal cannabis can, and should, meet all of the existing regulations for medicines. Because of the pharmaceutical quality of our products, the variety of our products, and the possibility to export our products, many governments, scientists, and pharmaceutical companies across the globe have chosen to work with Bedrocan.

Bedrocan International now has production facilities across three countries, including the Netherlands, Denmark, and Canada. The company is in the midst of multiple international expansion efforts and the company's reach is rapidly expanding. This presents exciting challenges as we look to sustainably scale our business.

What you will do

The role as a Summer Corporate Strategy Analyst will focus on learning and maintaining the mechanisms that underpin the financial and strategic planning processes at Bedrocan International. In conjunction with the CFO and Corporate Development Manager, you will build and operate financial models that inform strategic decision making across the company.

You will also be required to work on cross-departmental engagements, advising on issues concerning corporate strategy, joint ventures, investments, operational best practices, and pricing strategy, amongst others. The Summer Corporate Strategy Analyst will serve as an interface between corporate finance, financial planning and analysis, and strategy.

What we ask from you

- Obtaining a Bachelor's or Master's degree with strong academic performance
- Interest in finance and international business
- Well-developed quantitative and analytical skills
- Strong interpersonal, stakeholder, and project management skills

- Excellent presentation skills, including strong verbal and writing capabilities
- Language skills: English and preferably Dutch

What we offer

- Hands on experience in corporate development and strategic finance
- Mentorship from experienced professionals
- Exposure to senior leadership and decision making processes
- Opportunity to work on high-impact business projects
- An exciting graduation assignment/internship for about six months at a fast developing and international expanding company
- Potential full-time offer at the end of the graduation assignment/internship
